FOR CATTLE GROWERS

North Alberta, Feb. 26.
Edi or Bulletin

Sir,—I would direct the attention of those engaged in the cattle business to the great advantages to be gained by abolishing as speedily as possible their present system of disposing of beef, a system so manifestly one-sided and opposed to the interests and prosperity of every breeder of stock that in reviewing the situation one wonders that it has been so long tolerated by a progressive community.

Beef cattle like every other known article of consumption can only be fairly purchased when brought by weight. By that method alone can the true and most fundamental interests of the producer be attained.

Much has been written regarding the necessity of keeping first class bulls. Sell steers off the scales and practical encouragement is given to every cattle owner to keep nothing but the best that his means can afford.

The now growing theory of breed to any thing, "it will go if it is beef," would become heavily handicapped and as a sequence we furnish at the same time the too frequent half hearted manner of feeding.

Under more profitable conditions of sale, men would seek to individualize their herds, because every man would be the incontrovertible factor that in good breeding and feeding lay his profit, and a class of cattle defying competition would result.

The present system while similarly affecting all engaged, yet bearing far more unduly, experience has shown us, upon the smaller breeders, the poorest settlers with the smallest number of cattle to dispose of were securing the lowest price; but sell by weight and all are at once upon an equal footing, receiving the same incentive to breed to the best and feed for everything in sight. Sell beef steers by weight and less will be known of cheap grain going begging.

And we come to even a broader view of the matter. It is not only those engaged in the business who would be directly benefited. The cattle industry will ever be the staple industry of this country and destined to attain high proportions. You could not improve the circumstances of so large a portion of any community without materially benefiting the whole. Towns along the "meat" road, the weighing and shipping points; it is there the worth of the cattle would be paid. Merchants, too, would be gainers by the change; the more prosperous a population the more it will spend.

Every shipping centre should have stock yards with scales, the option at present existing of weighing at a distant point has proved to many but a ruinous alternative.

I am,
Yours faithfully,
HY. FRANK LAWRENCE.

FORT SASKATCHEWAN

A meeting of the ratepayers is called for Wednesday, 18th in the school house. The important item to be discussed is the matter of a new school building. Everybody admits the necessity of better school accommodation, but as to the size, cost and so forth, no doubt there will be a variety of opinions. However, an opportunity will be given at the meeting for free and frank discussion of such an important question.

Fort Saskatchewan's name and fame is travelling far and wide. One may see signs of this in Winnipeg and eastern papers, and even in old country periodicals.

Sleighting is still fairly good; many loads of logs are coming in and being cut into lumber at Featherstone's mill.

Farm lands are bought and sold freely. Prices are good, especially so within a radius of seven or eight miles from the Fort. All seem to be agreed that the railroad is a "pure hunk," and that the Fort "must" go ahead.

T. G. Pearce and his brother, S. Pearce, are reported as having arrived in England. They will no doubt be efficient agents re emigration.

Mrs. S. McGorman, who has been visiting at the parsonage during the winter, has returned to her home, Arden, Manitoba.

Mrs. Lane is visiting at Dr. Tofted's. Ed. Graham has taken a position in Langworthy's store. Mr. Langworthy intends carrying a much heavier stock of hardware.

A. McCarraiden is also adding points and other lines to his stock. Shera & Co. report good business in the milling line.

Mrs. J. W. Shera, Mr. Gourlay, D. Symons and many others have been victims to la grippe. Mrs. F. Featherstone is still very low. C. Davies, F. Featherstone and A. Walker are recovering.

Freighters are busy. Coal is in good demand, store goods are coming down before the break-up. Cushings is unable to get sufficient teams to haul down lumber.

JERE HILLS

March 7, 1908.

The old log school house on the Hill, which was built away back in the last century, is about to be replaced by a new brick veneer one 24x30 feet. Many stormy scenes have been enacted within the walls of the old building and many tremendous interpellations of the school ordinances, that would have paralyzed Blackstone, the eminent jurist, have been rendered by different trustees. Ministers of many denominations have held forth regularly, warning "sinners to flee from the wrath to come," but with how much success will be judged later on. The Patrons of Industry also held their meetings while the order existed, and at one time looked as if they would make all crooked things straight. Many fiery speeches were made, denouncing "tramps and scoundrels," by speakers who declared that the Patrons would regale till all their enemies were put under their feet. But disreputations took place, and the order also collapsed. Statute labor meetings also have been held, and some able speeches on roads and bridges, have been delivered by some of our local orators, that would have thrown MacAdam in the shade. Political meetings about election time were sure to draw crowds, who listened "with arms akimbo and mouths a-gog," to the stories of the wily politician, and on election day some with mouths still more a-gog caused many battles of Bismarck Walker's 7-year-old to disappear forever. Mr. Gie lantern and time light view entertainments were given, showing among other scenes, "Ten Nights in a Bar Room," which left an impression on some of the rising generation, which we hope will remain for life. Literary, debates, socials, recitals, singing classes and many other happy meetings have also been held at different times, to say nothing of many unhappy ones. I can recollect emotions, thrills of joy, and pulse of pain.

That my heart was keen in knowing, as they flooded through my brain. But the love lights shimmer richly, like the tide that's never still.

Shedding beams of endless halo 'round the old log school house on the Hill. I am sailing o'er life's ocean with my Leader in command.

And He will guide when He pleases to my own, my native land.

But my frail heart often longeth, while my eyes with rainbows fill.

For a new happy meeting in the old log school house on the Hill.

Our neighbors across the line have suffered from the effects of a terrible blizzard, as far east as Illinois, and Wisconsin, as far east as Louisiana. Reports state that all traffic in Texas was at a standstill, wires down. While storms were raging across the line, people in Alberta were walking around in their shirt sleeves, the sun shining brightly, trains on time, stock doing well, and everybody happy. Alberta with her mild climate, coal fields, forests of timber and rich soil has a grand future ahead of her.

Prof. S. Jones, of Fort Saskatchewan, was around last week, arranging for a singing class to be conducted by him in the school house here, every Thursday evening.

Rev. J. Hodgins, B. A., of Edmonton, will preach here on Sunday the 8th inst.

Your correspondent is already receiving many letters from parties living in the States and in British Columbia asking for information about Northern Alberta. From present appearances it would seem that the Edmonton district will have a large share of this year's immigrants.

BEAUMONT

Joe Boldue had the misfortune to have two of his fingers severed, while working at the saw mill near here on Tuesday last. He went to the General Hospital, Edmonton, for treatment. Miss Josephine Lavigne spent a few days visiting friends in Edmonton the past week.

The members of the Beaumont choir drove to Leduc on Sunday last, where service is held once a month. High mass was sung by Rev. Father Nordman. Miss Lavigne presided at the organ.

Service was held in the church here on Ash Wednesday, Feb. 25th. Lent commencing on that date, is usually observed as a time of fasting and abstinence.

The snow is fast disappearing during the past few days rendering the roads impassable for sleighs in some places.

Mr. Barube has returned from the lumber camps, north of Edmonton.

A. Plants intends to move east into the Lake Joseph district in the spring where he has located some excellent land in 49-22. No doubt this district will be all settled in the near future. This tract has just lately been surveyed.

Miss Lachapelle and Mrs. Dargis, of this place, are at present laid up at the Edmonton hospital.

Feb. 25.

BEAVER LAKE EAST

Joseph McCallum's store now sports a very artistic sign, the work of Messrs. D. McCallum and Chas. Doby. Mr. Verch's sale of cattle, horses, &c., comes off on the 26th inst. A. E. Moody is the auctioneer.

McCauley's, Bevington's and Mcbarn's saw mills have been liberally patronized by the settlers here and at Vegreville. Progress along the lines of building, fencing, &c., is to be the watchword the coming summer.

This settlement has reason to be proud of its record for 1902. The yields of grain, roots, &c., were very great, while the quality is exemplified by the fact that we had wheat weighing 67 lbs. per measured bushel and oats 50 lbs. per bushel.
